

Week beginning 21st February 2022

It's been a busy week back after the half term break.

Maths

In maths, this week we worked on place value. We began learning how to round numbers to the nearest thousand, followed by counting forward and backwards in steps of 25. Children were then introduced to negative numbers.

Literacy

This week we focussed on poetry. Children read a poem called Lonely Street, completing a range activities that aided their understanding of the poem. Children learned how the author's choice of words and setting created a certain mood/ feeling. The children were then tasked with changing the feeling of the character in the original poem by using different words and setting.
